

Big Clothing Sale July 9 to 23, 1910

This will be the greatest Bargain Offering ever made in Berea. We are over stocked with Spring and Summer suits which must be sold in the next two weeks.

There will also be a deep cut made on all furnishing goods; hats, etc.

R. R. COYLE

Berea,

Kentucky.

NEWS OF THE WEEK BEREAL CELEBRATES

Careful Study of the Tariff Started —Taft Withdraws Public Lands—
Illinois Done with Lorimer—Educators
Meet in Boston—Chief Justice
Dead—Johnson Defeats Jeffries—Wreck in Ohio.

TARIFF STUDY BEGUN.—Three tariff experts are already at work on careful investigation of the tariff rates, $250,000 is available for this study of cost of production in foreign countries as well as in our own and of all conditions that affect the tariff.

BIG AIRSHIP WRECK.—The Deutschland, the giant passenger airship, with 32 persons aboard, was lately cast in the tree tops of a German forest. No one was fatally injured.

TAFT WITHDRAWS LAND.—President Taft has used the power granted by the last congress and has ordered 8,495,751 acres of land to be withdrawn from public sale. This change of policy may be considered as a rebuke to Mr. Halliger, who is seeking an interview with the President. It is rumored that he will resign.

BIG FOUR WRECK.—Twenty-three are dead and thirty-seven injured as a result of a collision between the Big Four Limited and a freight train near Middlesboro, Ohio, the Fourth of July.

SENATOR LORIMER DOOMED.—Illinois is now fully aware to the graft that has so long corrupted its legislature. A conference of representative citizens at Peoria last week has ordered thorough investigation of charges against Lorimer and has begun work for important reforms intended to prevent the recurrence of such conditions.

SENATOR DANIEL DEAD.—John W. Daniel, senior senator from Virginia, Confederate soldier, orator and statesman, has passed away. As a lawyer he was recognized as an authority and was the author of two standard books.

GREAT GATHERING OF EDUCATORS.—More than two thousand members of the National Educational Association, from all over the country are now attending the forty-eighth annual convention of the organization in Boston. All phases of child education are being discussed and the best educators of the land will address the convention.

CHIEF JUSTICE FULLER GONE.—Chief Justice Melville W. Fuller of the United States Supreme Court died of heart failure at his home in Maine the Fourth of July. He was in his seventy-sixth year. Of the eight presiding justices of the highest tribunal in the United States he has the honor of third rank for length of service. For twenty-two years he has been chief justice.

NICARAGUAN TROUBLE CONTINUES.—Affairs in Nicaragua continue and financial and commercial interests suffer. It is causing trouble for the near-by nations and may also lead to a change of policy on the part of our State Department, though it is impossible to say what attitude will be taken.

(Continued on fifth page.)

The game was on in earnest

Once more the Fourth has come and gone.

The enthusiastic celebration of the Fourth at Berea is evidence of the wide awake spirit prevailing among her people. It takes work and energy to get up such a celebration and carry it through successfully but it creates community spirit, and, in calling attention to our town, helps in the plan which all cherish of making Berea the best town in Eastern Kentucky.

Although the weather was threatening a good sized crowd began to assemble at an early hour. John Henry's band in costume created amusement along the street. About ten o'clock the games began on the athletic field of the college. Everybody was in for a day of fun and enjoyed every event. The committee on sports had a good program. The 100 yards dash for boys under 12 years was won by Paul Bicknell and Boss Robinson came second. The first prize was an express wagon given by the Wedge Department store and the second a piano by Parkhill Scott. The 100 yards dash for boys under nine was won by George Kirby and the prize was $1.00 in cash given by the committee.

The climbing of the greased pole created amusement and was won by Elysses Wyatt. His prize of $2.94 in cash was on the top and the boys' fellow won it with credit. The 50 yard dash for men over 40 years was won by Mr. J. C. Bowman. It is easy to see that he has been an athlete in his day and his boys came to it by right. His prize was a carbon-magnetic razor given by Porter Drug Co. The ball throwing contest for young women failed to materialize for lack of nibble young women but perhaps because it was so hot. The heavy event of the day was the race for men weighing over 180 pounds and the prize was carried off by Harry Woodall. What he did with the watermelon, given by W. H. Porter is not known. The obstacle race was won by George R. Shepard and the prize of a straw hat given by R. R. Coyle came in good. The sack race was won by Simon Muney, the prize was $1.00 in cash given by the committee. The greased pig was captured by Leslie Powell. The pig was either overworn by the occasion or the heat and did not prove a hard victim to catch.

The ball game between College Faculty and Business Men was called at 2 o'clock. Both teams came on the field with determination on their faces. The line up for the Business Men was Earl Hayes, catcher; Dr. W. G. Best, first base; G. H. Gahard, second base; L. O. Lester, third base; H. C. Woolf, short stop; W. C. Engle, right field; Kid Richardson, center field; J. M. Field, left field and Charles Burdette, pitcher.

The College line up was C. Hender, catcher; Eli Seale, first base; M. L. Spink, second base; C. M. Canfield, third base; Geo. Dick, short stop; C. D. Lewis, right field; Letcher Gabbard, center field; Carl Hunt, left field and Chester Erwin, pitcher.

The game was on in earnest

when a heavy rain came up and ended the sports for the day. An inning and a half was played and the business men were in the lead when the game stopped.

At eleven o'clock the literary exercises of the day began. A platform had been erected at the foot of the hill on the edge of the athletic field and the people on the side of the hill shaded by trees listened in comfort to an excellent program. Rev. W. P. Wilkes acted as chairman of the day. W. C. Gamble led in the singing of America, the Declaration of Independence was read by D. O. Bowmanna. One of the features of the day was a piano contest by young women for the best essay on the Declaration of Independence. The committee awarded the prize, a pair of shoes, given by R. J. Engle, to Miss Harrison. Second place was given to Miss Etha Moore. The winning essay was read as part of the program.

The address of the day was by Prof. Jas. Watt Raine, of Berea College, on the subject, Patriotism. It was a very excellent address, full of good sense and straightforward counsel, stimulating and helpful.

The speaker said that we should be honest with ourselves at home and admit that no place needed patriotism more than Kentucky. We have been accustomed to lean too much on our past and ought to awake and be doing.

Patriotism was characterized as something else than parade—as something needed to secure the welfare of a nation after it has been brought into existence by war, in a greater degree than in war itself. We are living in an age of machinery but Patriotism is personal and needed to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard. His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

COMMENCEMENT BURGLARY

It has just been discovered that Commencement night in Berea was disgraced by an unique and surprising act of vandalism.

It has always been Prof. Edward's custom to sleep the sleep of the just with his door unbarred and his house unguarded.

It so happened that this fact became known to a member of the college department, supposedly a bosom friend of the Model School Dean.

This individual in the dead hours of Commencement night when all the inmates of the Edwards home were deeply buried in the somnolent state, because of the strain and heat of the day, on cautious toe with future Jean Valjean glance crept in the house and up the stairs.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A BATH.

It was easy to see that his errand was no common one. It was to be a departure from the burglaristic standard.

His face was pale, his eyes burned, the sweat stood on his classic brow as he approached a door, and fifteen minutes afterwards, unknown to any members of the household he descended the stairs and fled with his booty. He had stolen—A

THE DIVA'S RUBY

By F. MARION CRAWFORD
Author of "SARACINESCA," "ARETHUSA" ETC., ETC.
ILLUSTRATIONS BY A. WEIL

COPYRIGHT 1907 BY F. MARION CRAWFORD

SYNOPSIS.

Baraka, a Tartar girl, became enamored of a golden bearded stranger who was prospecting and studying her ways. The visitor was followed to the cave by Baraka's relatives, who blocked up the entrance, and drew off the water supply, leaving the couple to die. Baraka's cousin Saad, her betrothed, attempted to shoot down the stranger, looking the man; but the traveler shot him. The stranger was revived from a water gourd Saad carried, due his way out of the tunnel, and departed, desiring to be left alone. He carried a bag of rubies, which Baraka gathered all the gems she could carry, and started in pursuit. Margaret Donne (Margaret da Cordova), a famous prima donna, became engaged to a Latin American, Konstantin, to get him a wealthy Greek financier. Her intimate friend was Countess Leven, known as Lady Maud, whose husband had been killed by a band in St. Petersburg; and Lady Maud's most intimate friend was Rufus Van Torp, an American, who had become one of the richest men in the world. Van Torp was in love with Margaret, and ruined Levenon, soon after the death of her husband. He offered Lady Maud $5,000,000 for her pet charity if she would aid him in winning the singer from Logothet. Baraka approached Logothet, "We have no rubies to sell," he said. He presented a ruby to Margaret. Van Torp bought a yacht and sent it to Venice. He was visited by Baraka in male attire. She gave him a ruby and a diamond ring. He had the honor of having seen in the United States a man answering the description of the one she loved. The American followed Margaret to the Bayreuth "Parsifal" festival.

CHAPTER V.—Continued.

Mr. Van Torp was fond of music, quite apart from his admiration for the greatest living lyric soprano, and since it was his fancy to go to Bayreuth in the hope of seeing her, he meant to hear Wagner's masterpiece, and supposed that there would not be any difficulty about such a simple matter, nor about obtaining the sort of room he was accustomed to, in the sort of hotel he expected to find where so many rich people went every other year. Any one who has been to the holy place of the Wagnerians can imagine his surprise when, after infinite difficulty, he found himself, his belongings and his man deposited in one small attic room of a Bavarian tanner's house, with one feather-bed, one basin and one towel for furniture.

"Stump," said Mr. Van Torp, "this is a heathen town."

"Yes, sir."

"I suppose I'm thought close about money," continued the millionaire, thinking aloud, "but I call $5 a day dear for this room, don't you?"

"Yes, sir, I do indeed! I call it downright robbery. That's what I call it, sir."

"Well, I suppose they call it business here, and quite a good business, too. But I'd like to buy the whole thing and show 'em how to run it. They'd make more in the end."

"Yes, sir. I hope you will, sir. Beg pardon, sir, but do you think it would cost a great deal?"

"They'd ask a great deal, anyway," answered the millionaire thoughtfully. "Stump, suppose you get me out some things and then take a look around, while I try to get a wash in that—that tea-service there."

Mr. Van Torp eyed the exiguous basin and jug with some curiosity and much contempt. Stump, impassive and correct under all circumstances, unstrapped a valise, laid it out on the bed what his master might need, and inquired if he wished anything else.

"There isn't anything else," answered Mr. Van Torp, gnomily.

"When shall I come back, sir?"

"In 25 minutes. There isn't half an hour's wash in that soap-suds, anyway."

He eyed the wretched basin with a glance that might almost have cracked it. When his man had gone, he proceeded to his toilet, such as it was, and solaced himself by softly whistling as much of the "Good Friday" music as he remembered, little dreaming what it was, or that his performance was followed with nervous and almost feverish interest by the occupant of the next room in the attic, a poor musician who had saved and scrimped for years to sit at the musical feast during three days.

"E sharp!" cried an agonized voice on the other side of the closed door, in a strong German accent. "I know it is E sharp! I know it!"

Mr. Van Torp stopped whistling at once, lowered his razor, and turned a mask of soapuds in the direction whence the sound came.

"Do you mean me?" he inquired in a displeased tone.

"I mean who whistles the 'Good Friday' music," answered the voice. "I tell you, I know it is E sharp in that place. I have the score. I shall show you if you believe not."

"He's mad," observed Mr. Van Torp, beginning to shave again. "Are you a lunatic?" he asked, pausing after a moment. "What's the matter with you, anyhow?"

"Shall I? Well, now, that's a funny sort of rule for a hotel, isn't it?"

"I go complain of you," retorted the other, and Mr. Van Torp heard a door opened and shut again.

In a few minutes he had done all that the conditions would permit in the way of making himself presentable, and just as he left the room he was met by Stump, the 25 minutes being just over.

"I am a musician, I tell you! I am a pianist!"

"It's the same thing," said Mr. Van Torp, working carefully on his upper lip, under his right nostril.

"I shall tell you that you are a barbarian!" retorted the voice.

"Well, that doesn't hurt," answered Mr. Van Torp.

He heard a snort of scorn on the other side and there was silence again. But before long, as he got away from his upper lip with the razor, he unconsciously began to whistle again, and he must have made the same mistake as before, for he was interrupted by a deep groan of pain from the next room.

"Not feeling very well?" he inquired with a tone of dry jocularity. "Stomach upset?"

"E sharp!" screamed the wretched pianist.

Van Torp could hear him dancing with rage or pain.

"See here, whoever you are, don't call names! I don't like it. See? I've paid for this room and I'm going on whistling if I like, and just as long as I like."

"You say you make noises you like?" cried the infuriated musician.

"Oh, no! You shall not! There are rules! We are not in London, sir, we are in Bayreuth! If you make noises, you shall be thrown out of the house."

"Very good, sir. I'll do what I can, settled themselves side by side on the hard green sofa. "I don't suppose I can explain, so that you'll understand, but I'll try. Different kinds of things brought me. I heard you were here from Lady Maud, and I thought perhaps I might have an opportunity for a little talk. And then—oh, I don't know. I've seen everything worth seeing except a battle and 'Parsifal,' and as it seemed so easy, and you were here, I thought I'd have a look at the opera, since I can't see the fight."

Margaret laughed a little.

"I hope you will like it," she said. "Have you a good seat?"

"I haven't got a ticket yet," answered Mr. Van Torp, in blissful ignorance.

"No seat!" The prima donna's surprise was almost dramatic. "But how in the world do you expect to get one now? Don't you know that the seats for 'Parsifal' are all taken months beforehand?"

"Are they really?" He was very calm about it. "Then I suppose I shall have to get a ticket from a speculator. I don't see anything hard about that."

"My dear friend, there are no speculators here, and there are no tickets to be had. You might as well ask for the moon!"

"I can stand, then. I'm not afraid of getting tired."

"There are no standing places at all! No one is allowed to go in who has not a seat. A week ago you might sicians really suffer if one does that. But it must have been something rather complicated, to have an E sharp in it! It wasn't 'Suwanee River,' nor the 'Washington Post,' either! Indeed, I should rather like to know what it was."

"Old tunes I picked up when I was cow-punching, years ago," answered Mr. Van Torp. "I don't know where they came from, for I never asked, but they're not like other tunes, that's certain, and I like them. They remind me of the old days out west, when I had no money and nothing to worry about."

"I'm very fond of whistling, too," Margaret said. "I study all my parts by whistling them, so as to save my voice."

"Really? I had no idea that was possible."

"Quite. Perhaps you will like it very well. Won't you let me hear the tune that irritated your neighbor, the pianist? Perhaps I know it, too."

"Well," said Mr. Van Torp, "I suppose I could. I should like a little shy before you," he added, quite naturally. "If you'll excuse me, I'll just go and stand before the window so that I can't see you. Perhaps I can manage that way."

Margaret, who was hored to the verge of collapse on the off-days, thought him much nicer than he had formerly been, and she liked his perfect simplicity.

"Stand anywhere you like," she said.

"But let me hear the tune."

Margaret, who was hored to the verge of collapse on the off-days, thought him much nicer than he had formerly been, and she liked his perfect simplicity.

"All sorts of young fellows used to drift out there," he said, "and one couldn't tell where they came from, though I can give a guess at where some of them must have been, since I've seen the world. There were younger sons of English gentlemen, fellows whose fathers were genuine lords, maybe, who had not brains enough to get into the army or the church. There were cashiered Prussian officers, and Frenchmen who had most likely killed women out of jealousy, and Sicilian bandits, and broken society men from New York. There were all sorts. And there was me. And we all spoke different kinds of English and had different kinds of tastes, good and bad—mostly bad. There was only one thing we could all do alike, and that was to ride."

"I never thought of you as riding," Margaret said.

"Well, why should you? But I can, because I was just a common cow-boy and had to, for a living."

"It's intensely interesting—what a strange life you have had! Tell me more about yourself, won't you?"

"There's not much to tell, I seems to me," said Van Torp. "From being a cow-boy I turned into miner, and

"Thank you," he said, in a low voice.

Margaret smiled and passed her hand over her eyes quickly, as if to dispel a vision she had seen. Then she spoke.

"Do you really not know what that music is?" she asked. "Really, really?"

"Oh, quite honestly I don't!"

"You're not joking? You're not laughing at me?"

"I?" He could not understand. "I shouldn't dare!" he said.

"You've been whistling some of 'Parsifal,' some of the most beautiful music that ever was written—and you whistle marvelously, for it's anything but easy! Where in the world did you learn it? Don't tell me that those are 'old tunes' you picked up on a California ranch!"

"It's true, all the same," Van Torp answered.

He told her of the two foreigners who used to whistle together in the evenings, and how one was supposed to have been shot and the other had disappeared, no one had known whither, nor had cared.

"All sorts of young fellows used to drift out there," he said, "and one couldn't tell where they came from, though I can give a guess at where some of them must have been, since I've seen the world. There were younger sons of English gentlemen, fellows whose fathers were genuine lords, maybe, who had not brains enough to get into the army or the church. There were cashiered Prussian officers, and Frenchmen who had most likely killed women out of jealousy, and Sicilian bandits, and broken society men from New York. There were all sorts. And there was me. And we all spoke different kinds of English and had different kinds of tastes, good and bad—mostly bad. There was only one thing we could all do alike, and that was to ride."

"I never thought of you as riding," Margaret said.

"Well, why should you? But I can, because I was just a common cow-boy and had to, for a living."

"It's intensely interesting—what a strange life you have had! Tell me more about yourself, won't you?"

"There's not much to tell, I seems to me," said Van Torp. "From being a cow-boy I turned into miner, and those two men were, and what became of the one who disappeared."

"I've a strong impression that I saw him in New York the other day," Van Torp answered. "If I'm right, he's made money—doing quite well, I should think. It wouldn't surprise me to hear he'd got together a million or so."

"Really? What is he doing? Your stories grow more and more interesting."

"If he's the fellow we used to call Leyi Longlegs on the ranch, he's a Russian now. I'm not perfectly sure, for he had no hair on his face then, and now he has a beard like a French rasper. But the eyes and the nose and the voice and the accent are the same, and the age would about correspond. Handsome man, I suppose you'd call him. His name is Krailinsky just at present, and he's found a whole mine of rubies somewhere."

"Really? I love rubies. They are my favorite stones."

"Are they? That's funny. I've got an uncut one in my pocket now, if you'd like to see it. I believe it comes from Krailinsky's mine, too, though I got it through a friend of yours, two or three days ago."

"A friend of mine?"

He was poking his large fingers into one of the pockets of his waistcoat in search of the stone.

"Mr. Logothet," he said, just as he found it. "He's discovered a handsome young woman from Tarsity, or somewhere, who has a few rubies to sell that look very much like Krailinsky's. This is one of them."

He had unwrapped the stone now and he offered it to her, holding it out in the palm of his hand. She took it delicately and laid it in her own, which was so white that the gem shined a delicate pomegranate-colored light on the skin all round it. She admired it, turned it over with one finger, held it up towards the window, and laid it in her palm again.

But Van Torp had set her thinking about Logothet and the Tartar girl. She put out her hand to give back the ruby.

"I should like you to keep it, if you will," he said. "I shan't forget the pleasure I've had in seeing you like this, but you'll forget all about our meeting here—the stone may just make you remember it sometimes."

He spoke so quietly, so gently, that she was taken off her guard, and was touched, and very much surprised to feel that she was. She looked into his eyes rather cautiously, remembering well how she had formerly seen something terrifying in them if she looked an instant too long; but now they made her think of the eyes of a large affectionate bulldog.

"You're very kind to want to give it to me," she answered after a moment's hesitation, "but I don't like to accept anything so valuable, now that I'm engaged to be married. Konstantin might not like it. But you're so kind; give me any little thing of no value that you have in your pocket, for I mean to remember this day, indeed I do!"

"I gave nothing for the ruby," said Van Torp, still not taking it from her, "so it has no value for me. I wouldn't offer you anything that cost me money, now, unless it was a theater for your own. Perhaps the thing's glass, after all; I've not shown it to any jeweler. The girl made me take it, because I helped her in a sort of way. When I wanted to pay for it she tried to throw it out of the window. So I had to accept it to calm her down, and she went off and left no address, and I thought I'd like you to have it, if you would."

"Are you quite, quite sure you did not pay for it?" Margaret asked. "If we are going to be friends, you must please always be very accurate."

"I've told you exactly what happened," said Van Torp. "Won't you take it now?"

"Yes, I will, and thank you very much indeed. I love rubies, and this is a beauty, and not preposterously big. I think I shall have it set as it is, uncut, and only polished, so that it will always be itself, just as you gave it to me. I shall think of the 'Good Friday' music and the chimes, and this hideous little room, and your clever whistling, whenever I look at it."

"You're kind today," said Mr. Van Torp, after a moment's debate as to whether he should say anything at all.

"Am I? You mean that I used to be very disagreeable, don't you?" She smiled as she glanced at him. "I must have been, I'm sure, for you used to frighten me ever so much. But I'm not in the least afraid of you now!"

"Why should any one be afraid of me?" asked Van Torp, whose smile had been known to terrify Wall street when a "drop" was expected.

Margaret laughed a little, without looking at him.

"Tell me all about the Tartar girl," she said, instead of answering his question.

Van Torp told her Baraka's history, as far as he knew it from Logothet.

TO BE CONTINUED.

"I Tell You, I Know It is E Sharp."

"Sir," said the excellent man, as Mr. Van Torp pointed to the things that lay about.

As he went out, he recognized the voice of his neighbor, who was talking excitedly in voluble German, somewhere at the back of the house.

"He's complaining now," thought Mr. Van Torp, with something like a smile.

He had already been to the best hotel, in the hope of obtaining a room, and he had no difficulty in finding it again. He asked for Mme. da Cordova. She was at home, for it was an off-day; he sent in his card, and was presently led to her sitting room. Times had changed. Six months earlier he would have been told that there had been a mistake and that she had gone out.

She was gone; a letter she had been writing lay unfinished on the queer little desk near the shaded window, and her pen had fallen across the paper. On the round table in the middle of the small bare room there stood a plain white vase full of corn-flowers and poppies, and Margaret was standing there, rearranging them, or pretending to do so.

She was looking her very best, and she raised her eyes and greeted him with a friendly smile, Mr. Van Torp thought she had never been

WINE, WOMEN AND WAGES

By Rev. M. A. Matthews, D. D.
Pastor of First Presbyterian Church
Seattle, Wash.

In calling to your attention the perplexing problems included in the title of this sermon, you are, no doubt, willing to admit that it is impossible to give an exhaustive review of the underlying conditions and causes. If we are successful in making you think, arrive at a conclusion and form a resolution, the sermon has accomplished its purpose. In fact, it is not the purpose of a sermon to relieve the audience of mental exercise. Its best work has been done when it creates an appetite for Bible study, investigation and honest thought; when it provokes the auditors to think and forces them to arrive at logical, sane, spiritual conclusions.

The work of this pulpit has always been done along that line. It does not try to inject hypodermic doses of encyclopedias into the audience. It leaves that work to superficial, alleged students. If in this sermon you can be provoked to think, to act and to do your Christian duty, every one will be satisfied.

Wine, women and wages have been, since the catastrophe in the Garden of Eden, very obstreperous subjects. No man pretends to know everything about them. In fact, one of them is very elusive, and perhaps will never be fully understood until she reaches Paradise regained. The more elusive the subject the more fascinating the study and the more exciting the pursuit of knowledge.

These three problems are ever with us, and will remain with us, and will continue to be serious problems until the end of the ages. Many ridiculous, foolish and harmful solutions remain unsolved. One is prone to think and believe the time has arrived for serious, sane, righteous efforts to be made at remedying the conditions now confronting us.

The harmful effects of intoxicating beverages have been apparent to students for the last 5,000 years.

Drunkenness is a crime against God, against man, against society, against the home, church and child. There is no excuse for it. There is no logical reason to sustain it. It has been tried and condemned before every bar of justice, before public opinion and by every thinking man who has ever lived or who now lives.

Drunkenness must cease. If the man who makes a honest of himself were the only one involved we might become cold hearted and cruel enough to say: "Let him drink himself to death, go to the dogs, and be devoured by the vultures." The man who makes a beast of himself, who destroys his life by strong drink, and who wallows in the gutter, perhaps, deserves no more consideration. However, he is not the only one involved. His family are to be considered, his children are to be pitied, society is to be protected, and posterity is to be prevented from inheriting his habits, tendencies and diseases.

Many remedies have been tried for drunkenness. The man who comes into this world cursed by heredity, with a tendency to drink, is to be pitied. He ought to have every effort made in his behalf that could possibly prevent him from following his inclinations to the drunkard's grave and to the drunkard's cell. It is impossible for a man who dies a drunkard to be saved. No drunkard who dies a drunkard can inherit the kingdom of God or receive the blessings, joys and citizenship of heaven. There are no drunkards in heaven. In order for a drunkard to be saved he must turn from his evil ways, give up his life of sin, accept Jesus Christ as his personal Savior, be regenerated by the Holy Spirit, and then he can be saved in this life and from himself, his appetites and his passions.

The man who deliberately contracts the habit of drunkenness deserves physical punishment, ostracism, and the infliction of every pain that will make him conscious of the wrong he is perpetrating against his family and society.

The whipping post would perhaps be effectual remedy for premeditated, deliberate drunkenness. The man who disregards his family and shows contempt for society by deliberately getting drunk ought to be stripped to the waist, tied to a public whipping post, and given 39 lashes on his naked back once a week for six months. If that remedy were applied, some of your "gentle drunks," who are destroying their families, dissipating their property, insulting society and damning young men would be immediately and effectually cured.

The idea of a man getting drunk, going home and insulting his family, abusing his little, helpless wife, terrorizing and cursing his little children, is repugnant to every thought. His poor, helpless wife and little children seem to be without remedy at the hands of your courts, because justice is administered by unimpartial men who seem to be afraid to punish a genteel rascal. The whipping post ought to be established for wife beaters, professional drunks and men who disregard their duties to their families, their children and society.

Remember that I said I was deeply interested in and sorry for the man who is born a drunkard, and by inheritance was cursed with an appetite for demonized wine. Such a man, if he becomes a drunkard, ought to be tried for insanity and confined in an asylum for life.

Midsummer Hats

FOR the heads of youth and lowness, one of that small company of designers who make Paris the top o' the world (in millinery), has given to us these three things of beauty for the summer girl. They look so simple! And they are in reality only broad-brimmed fehorn and hemp shapes with plumes and ribbon, or flowers and ribbon, for gariture. But their simplicity is only seeming. It is the result of a deep study of lines by a gifted artist. It is like the simplicity of a perfectly plain and perfectly fitted, tailored coat, a thing difficult of achievement.

These broad brims, droop and lift, flowing about the face and head in lines that make us wonder and envy, not at their own sweet will, but by the careful calculation of the mind that planned them. They are, indeed, fitted to the face and head. They compel us to note how they silhouette an exquisite profile, or point to the fine line of the eyebrows, or play up the depth of the eyes or veil half the pretty face in mystery.

On the broad brimmed fehorn with black velvet facing, a mass of delicate tulip roses and a curious lily in black velvet are hanked against the crown. The brim, drooping gradually at the left, is so wide that it throws the entire profile, including the beautiful throat, and the neck, into high relief. The girl who chooses this must possess a profile worth while, because it will stand out like a stone cameo, with such a bust for a background.

The hemp hat covered with oddly mounted uncurled ostrich plumes is of a sort to carry off the honors at

JULIA BOTTOMLEY.

PRETTY FOULARD WAIST

This simple waist is of dotted foulard, white ground, with blue dots. It is trimmed on each side of the front with a band of embroidery in colors, bordered with rolls of liberty.

The full front is of white silk velvet; the collar and sleeve ruffles are of lace.

Take Good Care of Your Gloves.

Gloves are another item about which many do not concern themselves sufficiently. A soiled glove looks as badly as a soiled collar, yet no one would think of wearing the latter, whereas gloves that reek with dirt and germs are worn with the greatest disregard for appearance and hygiene. Fastidious women find the chamois glove a delightful substitute for the regular kid, as it can be washed when soiled, wears as well as any other, and is much more comfortable. Gloves, like stockings, should be mended the moment they begin to wear; in fact, every garment requires constant inspection to keep it in condition and always ready for use.

The Deftinator.

If you are troubled with freckles try putting a teaspoonful of salt in a basin of water and bathing the face with it.

Do this occasionally and see how quickly they will fade.

PETER'S CONFESSION

Sunday School Lesson for July 17, 1910
Specially Arranged for This Paper

LESSON TEXT.—Matthew 16:13-28
Memory Verse, 26.

GOLDEN TEXT.—"Thou art the Christ, the Son of the Living God."—Matthew 16:16.

TIME.—Autumn of A. D. 29.

PLACE.—The picturesque region around Caesarea Philippi, at the base of Mount Hermon. About 25 miles northeast of the Sea of Galilee.

Suggestion and Practical Thought.

The Disciples have a New Vision of Jesus as the Messiah.—Vs. 13-17. "He asked his disciples," after he had been praying alone (Luke). As usual, the great epoch, the new work, began in prayer—showing its importance. His object seems to have been to draw out the faith of his disciples, and to reveal to them more fully his nature and his redeeming work. "Whom do men say that I the Son of man am?"

14. "Some say . . . John the Baptist" returned to life. Among these was Herod (Matt. 14:1, 2). "Some, Elias" (Greek form of Elijah), who was the expected forerunner of the Messiah (Mal. 4:5; Matt. 11:14). Or "Jeremiah," Greek of Jeremiah, a representative of the prophets, being the first named in the Jewish canon. "Or one of the prophets," i. e., "that one of the old prophets is risen again" (Luke 9:19).

15. "But whom say ye that I am?" Observe "ye," plural, and by position in the Greek, exceedingly emphatic.

16. "And Simon Peter." The somewhat impulsive nature of Peter made possible to him quick insight, new visions of truth.

"Thou art the Christ." The Messiah for whom the Jews were looking, for whom the ages had been preparing. "The Son of the Living God," such a one as alone can be the Savior of the world. No mere man however great can be our Supreme Leader and Savior.

17. "Blessed are thou." Because thou hast opened thy heart to the truth. Faith, knowledge of Christ as the Son of God, almighty to save and infinite in love; a heart in which truth finds a natural soil; a character in harmony with Jesus; broader outlooks into truth—are all exquisite blessings. "Simon Bar-Jona." Simon, son of John.

"For flesh and blood hath not revealed it unto thee."

The New Trust Committed to the Disciples.—Vs. 18-20. Although the understanding of the Messiah and his kingdom was very imperfect, yet Jesus showed them how great was the trust committed to them, and how heavy the responsibilities laid upon them. This was a part of their training. It would give them a deep interest in the subject, and lead to a more earnest search after the truth.

19. "I will give unto thee," as the representative of all. The others were included, as Peter had nothing in kind that the rest did not have (Matt. 18:18; John 20:23). In Rev. 21:14 the 12 apostles are 12 foundation stones of the heavenly city. (See also Eph. 2, 20.)

20. "Tell no man." Only those who knew Jesus as they did, could understand. To present Jesus as the Messiah would lead some to try to make him a worldly king according to their ideas of the Messiah; and repel those who saw that it was impossible for Jesus to do what they wanted their Messiah to do.

The New Revelation as to how the Christ, the Messiah, Must Accomplish His Work.—Va. 21-23. Jesus now began to tell his disciples what he must do in order to be the Messiah. He must suffer and die for the sins of the world. There is no other way.

23. Jesus "said unto Peter." Publicly before them all. "Get thee behind me, Satan." "Satan" means "adversary," the great "enemy" of all good, used in the Savior's time as a proper name. "He did not call him Satan, a devil, but he looked for the moment through Peter, and saw behind him his old enemy," who had presented the same temptation in the wilderness.

The Cross the Way to the Crown, for the Disciples as for the Christ—Vs. 24-26. "If any man will come after me, let him deny himself." Renounce self as master and accept Christ as master. When the heart accepts Jesus and chooses God, then the whole lower nature, all passions, aims, desires, are to be subjected not only to conscience, but to Jesus. "Take up his cross." Daily, not merely on special occasions. "And follow me," do what I am doing, live according to my plan and aim.

The Supreme Example and Proof of the Above Teaching.—Vs. 27-28. The life of Jesus had presented to his followers seemed hard and discouraging. They may well have felt as Phileb did when, on his way to the Celestial City, persuaded by Christian's pictures of its glories to undertake the journey, he suddenly found himself plunged into the Slough of Despond, and exclaimed, "Is this the happiness you have told me all this while of?"

So Christ seemed in effect to say, Are you discouraged? Do you hesitate to follow me under such circumstances? Let me open the windows of the Future, that you may see how my teaching is fulfilled in your life, now on his way to suffering and death, but you shall see him raised from the dead. "For the Son of man shall come in the glory of his Father with his angels," and "There shall be some standing here, which shall not taste of death, till they see the Son of man, coming in his kingdom." If we read right they did see it, and he rendered "every man according to his works."

SUMMER BEDROOM IN COLORS

Soft Shade of Green One of the Most Appropriate That Can Be Devised.

A beautiful green room of a summer cottage has been produced with green woodwork in one of the restful sage-green tints, the walls papered in a plain cartridge paper, with a frieze of stray vines, all in different shades of the same cool color. The wicker furniture is finished in a forest green stain and the carpet is covered with a green and white rug of fine, jointless matting. Sheer white muslin curtains hang at the windows with straight-falling draperies of liberty silk of the same color over them. A white porcelain bedroom candlestick four feet high stands at the head of the bed. It is a straight column resting on a square block base, the fluted finish outlined in green. It holds a large green wax candle, at the side of which is a little holder for a box of matches. Other fittings of the room carry out the green and white scheme, and as the apartment faces the south, the effect has been to temper its high light and contribute a restfully subdued tone.

Black Jewelry to the Fore.

Black jewelry is threatening a return to extensive vogue. Whenever any calamity abroad brings a prominent part of the populace into mourning black jewelry is sure to come around again. Persons who remember the death of the prince consort tell interesting tales of the extent to which the craze went at that time. Everybody wore black ornaments, and jet. Jet is already in high esteem with the powers that direct the wardrobe and has been for a year or more, but the manufacturers are getting ready for a still greater demand for it than they have seen for two generations at least.

Salt For Freckles.

If you are troubled with freckles try putting a teaspoonful of salt in a basin of water and bathing the face with it. Do this occasionally and see how quickly they will fade.

1835

Berea College

1910

FOR THE ASPIRING YOUNG PEOPLE OF THE MOUNTAINS.

Places the BEST EDUCATION in reach of all.

Over 64 instructors, 1365 students from 27 states.

Largest college library in Kentucky. NO SALOONS.

A special teacher for each grade and for each main subject. So many classes that each student can be placed with others like himself, where he can make most rapid progress.

Which Department Will You Enter?

THE MODEL SCHOOLS for those least advanced. Same lectures, library and general advantages as for more advanced students. Arithmetic and the common branches taught in the right way. Drawing, Singing, Bible, Handwork, Lessons in Farm and Household Management, etc. Free text books.

TRADE COURSES for any who have finished fifth grade (fractions and compound numbers), Brickwork, Farm Management, Printing, Woodwork, Nursing, Dressmaking, Household Management. "Learn and Earn."

ACADEMY, REGULAR COURSE, 2 years, for those who have largely finished common branches. The most practical and interesting studies to fit a young person for an honorable and useful life.

CHOICE OF STUDIES is offered in this course so that a young man may secure a diploma in Agriculture and a young lady in Home Science.

ACADEMY, COMMERCIAL, 1 year or 2 years to fit for business. Even a part of this course, as fall and winter terms, is very profitable. Small extra fees.

ACADEMY, PREPARATORY, 2, 3 and 4 year courses, with Latin, German, Algebra, History, Science, etc., fitting for college.

COLLEGIATE, 4 years, Literary, Scientific and Classical courses, with use of laboratories, scientific apparatus, and all modern methods. The highest educational standards.

NORMAL, 3 and 4 year courses fit for the profession of teaching. First year, parallel to 8th grade Model Schools, enables one to get a first-class certificate. Following years (winter and spring terms) give the information, culture and training necessary for a true teacher, and cover branches necessary for State certificate.

MUSIC. Singing (free), Reed Organ, Voice Culture, Piano, Theory, Band, may be taken as an extra in connection with any course. Small extra fees.

Expenses, Regulations, Opening Days.

Berea College is not a money-making institution. All the money received from students is paid out for their benefit, and the school expends on an average upon each student about fifty dollars a year more than he pays in. This great deficit is made up by the gifts of Christians and patriotic people who are supporting Berea in order that it may train young men and women for lives of usefulness.

OUR SCHOOL IS LIKE A FAMILY, with careful regulations to protect the character and reputation of the young people. Our students come from the best families and are earnest to do well and improve. For any who may be sick the College provides doctor and nurse without extra charge.

All except those with parents in Berea live in College buildings, and assist in work of boarding hall, farm and shops, receiving valuable training, and getting pay according to the value of their labor. Except in winter it is expected that all will have a chance to earn a part of their expenses. Write to the Secretary before coming to secure employment.

PERSONAL EXPENSES for clothing, laundry, postage, books, etc., vary with different people. Berea favors plain clothing. Our climate is the best, but as students must attend classes regardless of the weather, warm wraps and underclothing, umbrellas and overshoes, are necessary. The Co-operative Store furnishes books, toilet articles, work uniforms, umbrellas and other necessary articles at cost.

LIVING EXPENSES are really below cost. The College asks no rent for the fine buildings in which students live, charging only enough room rent to pay for cleaning, repairs, fuel, lights, and washing of bedding and towels. For table board, without coffee or extra, $1.35 a week in the fall, and $1.50 in winter. For room, furnished, fuel, lights, washing of bedding, 40 cents a week in fall and spring, 50 cents in winter.

SCHOOL FEES are two. First a "Dollar Deposit," a guarantee for return of room key, library books, etc. This is paid but once, and is returned when the student departs.

Second an "Incidental Fee" to help on expenses for care of school buildings, hospital library, etc. (Students pay nothing for tuition or services of teachers—all our instruction is a free gift). The Incidental Fee for most students is $5.00 a term, $6 in Academy and Normal, and $7.00 in Collegiate courses.

PAYMENT MUST BE IN ADVANCE, incidental fee and room rent by the term, board by the half term. Installments are as follows:

	Model School	Vocational Academy	College
FALL—
Incidental Fee	$ 5.00	$ 6.00	$ 7.00
Room	5.60	5.60	5.60
Board, 7

Special for this week
All 10c Canned Goods, 3 for 25cts.

AT

Phone 108 WALTER ENGLE Berea, Ky.

Everything in DRY GOODS, NOTIONS, LADIES' AND CHILDREN'S WEAR

E. F. COYLE
You pay less---or get more

Berea and Vicinity.

GATHERED FROM A VARIETY OF SOURCES

DR. BEST,
DENTIST

CITY PHONE 163
OFFICE OVER POST OFFICE

DAN H. BRECK

Fire, Life and Accident
Insurance

Phone 505 Richmond, Ky.

Plants For Sale

Cabbage and celery plants for sale at the college garden, or phone J.
R. Mullett.

Mr. H. M. Bradshaw, the president of the bank at McKee was in town last week on business.

Mr. Ben T. Head, the president of the Gadsden Land and Improvement
Co., was in Berea short time ago for a few days.

Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Fulkerson who have been visiting here since commencement returned to their home last Friday.

Large building lot for sale on Prospect Street. Apply to W. L. Flanery.

Miss Mamie Hunt, who has been teaching at Saluda, N. C. came last Wednesday for a visit with Misses Nina and Bertha King. She is on her way to her home in Cincinnati.

Misses Etta Moore and May Harris-son entertained their Sunday school classes at a lawn party at Misses Moore's home Friday afternoon.

Miss Bess Hays returned last week to her work in Gadsden, Ala., after a visit of several days with her parents here.

Miss Cora Marsh left last Saturday for her home in Wisconsin.

Mr. Jesse Huff is spending a few weeks in Berea.

For sale or rent one or a half dozen good barber chairs. One hydraulic.
Also other fixtures necessary to complete a shop.

Prof. Robertson will preach at the Union church Sunday.

Prof. J. Watt Raine left yesterday for Boston, where he will attend the Harvard Summer school until the middle of August.

I have forty-three good secondhand organs, all makes and styles, some good as new, which I will rent or sell on easy payments.

The next time you are hemstitching, try rubbing dry soap on the material where the threads are to be pulled. They will come out like magic.
This can be used for the finest or heaviest materials without injuring them—From Woman's Home Companion.

JACKSON—SMITH

Friends of Miss Sue Smith were very pleasantly surprised to hear of her marriage last Tuesday in Richmond to Mr. M. C. Jackson of Nashville. After staying over night at Boone Tavern they left Wednesday noon for their home in Nashville. Mr.
Jackson superintended the construction of the Cumberland Telephone line.

Quite a number of the Berea people attended a convention for the Christian churches of Madison County held at Kirksville last Thursday.

Lumber for sale. Seven to ten thousand feet.

Jas. Coyle, Berea, Ky.

Don't fail to see the bargains in laces, embroideries, braids, trimmings, dress fabrics, and the very best and latest in linens, shantung—and don't forget the chinaware at MRS.

EARLY'S

THE MARKET

Berea Prices

Cabbage, new 2½ to 4 cents per lb.

Potatoes, 50 and 60c, old and $1.00

new.

Eggs, per dozen 15 and 16c.

Butter, per lb. 20c.

BACON—

Salt Sides 15-16c.

Breakfast Bacon, 20-25c.

Premium Bacon, 27-33c.

HAMS—

Country, 17-18c.

Premium, 20-25c.

Friars on foot 15c per lb.

Hens on foot 10c. per lb.

Turkeys, 10c, for hens; 8c, for gobblers.

Feathers, per lb. 30c.

Hay, $16 per ton.

Corn 75c. per bushel.

Wheat per bu. $1.00

Cracked corn $1.00 per 100 lbs.

Wheat screening $1.25 per 100 lbs.

Ship stuff $1.30 per 100 lbs.

Ties, No. 1, L & N., 8½x7x9, 50-53c.

culls, 30c.

to the farmer's wife, No. 74 is entitled "Meat as Food." Nos. 85 and 93 deal with fish as food and sugar as food, respectively. No. 112 is "Bread and Bread Making." This pamphlet contains forty pages and takes up the subject in a scientific and thorough manner. No. 121 is "Beans, Peas and other Legumes as Food." "Butter Making on The Farm" is the title of bulletin 241. No. 256 is a cook book dealing with vegetables, entitled "The Preparation of Vegetables for the Table." No. 249 deals with cereal breakfast foods and contains thirty-six pages. No. 252 tells how to make and handle maple sugar and syrup.

Besides the cook books named above there are others and the list of all these publications is given on the last two pages of each bulletin.
You can send for one copy and then run through the list and find what others you desire.

The list covers a great variety of subjects. There are bulletins on how to kill rats, how to shoe horses, horse-feeding, conservation of Natural resources, feeding of farm animals, hog raising in the South, ideal farms, meadows and pastures, planting trees in rural school grounds, prevention of disease from insects, use of split log drag on farm roads, Southern hay farms, and so on down the list. It is very plain that there is much in these little bulletins to interest the average farmer. They are prepared without a thought of expense and trouble
by the government's own employees.

Write to the Department of Agriculture, or to your Congressman, for any bulletin, and it will be forthcoming at once.

MOUNTAIN VIEW STOCK FARM

Having decided to quit farming, I offer for sale privately, my farm of about 800 acres of fine blue grass land, 10 miles south of Richmond, four miles north of Berea, and one mile east of Whites Station, on the L. & N. railroad.

This is one of the best Stock Farms in Madison County. There are 90 acres in corn, about 100 in wheat and balance in grass. The improvements consist of a good modern brick house,

Eldean Patent Flour 70c.
a bag cash, at

W. J. Tatum's

Fresh Groceries

North Cor. Main St.
erea, Kentucky

If you want to secure the lowest price of the year, buy winter's coal now.

If you want good service along with good coal permit us to fill your bin at once.

Holliday & Co.
Phone 169 and 71 Berea, Ky.

metal roof, eight large rooms, besides laundry and cellars. Three good stock barns, three large tobacco barns, four tenement houses. Brick house, buggy house, poultry house,
wagon sheds, corn cribs, wood house,
and a number of smaller buildings.

There are two large cisterns at back door. Kitchen sink, with pump in Kitchen. Fine young orchard and good garden. The farm is newly fence-ed with heavy wire fence and locust posts, around the entire place. The Richmond and Berea turnpike bounds the farm on the east, and Silver Creek on the west. The large flouring mill of R. L. Potts & Son is only half mile away affording a home market for all grain raised on the farm.

There are a number of never failing springs and a fine pond at the mule shed, 10 feet deep and covering half acre of land. There are 15 lots of from one to fifteen acres, nearly all with sheds and water in them.
This is one of the best improved places in the county.

This farm is susceptible of division, and about 275 acres or more could be sold with the improvements.
This farm is especially adapted to the dairy business and stock raising. This farm can be bought at a bargain, and on easy terms, and possession of a portion of it given the first of September, and full possession given on Jan 1st, 1911. This is a rare opportunity for a young active man, who wants to make money. Come and see the farm or address the owner,

J. W. Herndon,
R. D. No. 1, Berea, Ky.

SWEET AS ROSES
Newly Washed in Dew

OUR Perfumery department contains dainties worthy a queen's use, and such were they bought for. For what women have more right to be called queens than our American wives, mothers, sweethearts and daughters? For such we have selected this exquisite collection of fragrances. That our pains are worthy their reward is shown by the many pleased ladies who grace our perfume department daily. Some of the most particular people in town come here for these nice things that make up our toilet goods department.

We would value highly your opinion of them. If you have not patronized our perfumery counters we invite you to do so soon. There are many dainties there that will please you.

Porter Drug Company

INCORPORATED

Berea, Kentucky

from Middletown to Louisville. Mrs. Jackson's many friends wish her a long life of happiness.

Moral: Don't Wash Your Face.
"I won't wash my face!" said Dolly defiantly.

"Naughty, naughty," reproved grandmother. "When I was a little girl I always washed my face."

"Yes, and look at it!"—Everybody's Magazine.

VALUABLE READING MATTER
FOR FARMERS

The United States Government is one of the largest publishers in the country. More than three thousand men and women are employed in the big print shop at North Capitol and G. Street in Washington. Among many hundred publications is a list of pamphlets, called Farmers Bulletins, gotten out under the direction of the Department of Agriculture. These bulletins now number more than three hundred. Many of them would be of especial interest to the people of the mountains of Kentucky, and all or any of them can be had for the asking.

A postal card directed to the Department of Agriculture, Bureau of Publications, will bring the desired bulletin by return mail.

Several of these bulletins, all of which are compiled by government experts, deal with the use and preparation of foods, and, taken together, make an admirable cook book. One of these, "The Economic Use of Meats in the Home" is being published by private concerns and sold at the news stands and book stores as "Uncle Sam's Cook Book." Bulletin No.
183 is entitled "Meat on the Farm, Butchering, Curing and Keeping." No.
175 is "Home Manufacture and Use of Unfermented Grape Juice." No. 166 deals with cheese making on the farm.
No. 131 tells how to detect by simple means oleomargarine and renovated butter. No. 125 is "Sorghum Syrup Manufacture." No. 128, "Eggs and their use as Food." No. 24, "Meats; Composition and Cooking." No. 63 tells how to care for milk on the farm, a pamphlet of forty pages that would offer many valuable suggestions

Hot Weather Wearing Apparel
At very Reasonable Prices

AT

RHODUS & HAYES

The Quality Store

BEREA, KY.

Men's Two-piece Suits
Men's Straw Hats
Men's Low Shoes
Men's Summer Coats
Men's White Vests
Men's Underwear

Women and Children's Summer Skirts
Women and Children's Hot Weather Hats
Women and Children's Low Shoes and Sandals
Women and Children's Light Waists
Women and Children's Bl'k and Fancy Parasols
Women and Children's Summer Underwear

Come and buy from us and you will get the best.

Have You Tried It?

There is a bottle of Cardui waiting for you at the drug store. Have you tried it? If not, we urge you to do so, before your troubles have obtained such a hold on you, that nothing will drive them out.

Even now, it may be nearly too late. But try it anyhow. If anything can help you, Cardui will. It has helped in thousands of cases, where other medicines had been tried in vain. Why should it not do the same for you?

Take CARDUI

The Woman's Tonic

"My daughter, Octava, would have been in her grave today, had it not been for that fine medicine, Cardui," writes Mrs. Laura Lawrence, of Drennon Springs, Ky.

"Nothing I tried helped my daughter, until she had taken Cardui. I had sent for the doctor, when I thought of your medicine and got a $1 bottle. When she had taken four doses she became all right. I often recommend Cardui to my friends."

Your druggist sells Cardui with full instructions for use on the bottle.

Write to: Ladies' Advisory Dept., Chattanooga Medicine Co., Chattanooga, Tenn., for Special Instructions, and 64-page book, "Home Treatment for Women," sent free.

NEWS OF THE WEEK

(Continued from first page)

JOHNSON WINS FIGHT—Jeffries and Johnson, competitors for the world's heavy weight championship, met the Fourth of July at Reno, Nevada. Johnson won in fifteen rounds. A purse of $121,000 was divided in the ratio of three-fifths and two-fifths to winner and loser. Twenty thousand people paid from ten to fifty dollars apiece for eighteen inches of pine board from which to view the great combat. It is generally admitted that this will be the last great prize fight and as was intended, it passed out in a blaze of glory.

THE POT SIMMERS

(Continued from first page)

Insurgents and head a split in the party in opposition to the president did not materialize. The thought was absurd the largely prevalent. Roosevelt was always a party man and a harmonizer. He is a progressive, but never would progress faster than he could pull the party organization. He would be in sympathy with the insurgents in their progressive policies but he would whip the recalcitrants into line with them and never sanction a separation from them.

However, much or little of the credit may be given to Roosevelt, this is just what happened toward the close of congress. Insurgents and recalcitrants joined rather harmoniously in passing the administration measures and only the Democrats went home blue, for they were left without an issue.

They might plead "the tariff," and many Republicans are dissatisfied with it but the Democrats have never framed a successful tariff and this Taft tariff is proving itself a revenue raiser, which is much needed; and besides, the tariff commission has already gone to work to find a basis for a scientific tariff—this terribly disappointing congress having voted the funds necessary to put it into the work after everybody concluded it would never do it.

They might have pleaded "Cannonism" but they themselves helped to deprive Cannon of all power that was harmful or obnoxious. Without an issue and without a leader, what shall the Democrats do? That is the question they are asking themselves inside.

Meanwhile the pot continues to simmer, and it will soon boil, even if the Democrats fail to find their issue or their leader, for the Republicans have gravitated from a state of gloom to one of joy, while the Democrats have receded from buoyant hope to despondency.

Taft, Roosevelt and Hughes—the great triumvirate.

Taft is happy over his success; Roosevelt was never in better shape for battle; and Hughes—we were about to say what a pity that he gives up policies and goes to the Supreme Bench—but possibly the need is greater there for, as we write, the news comes that Chief Justice Fuller is dead, and Harlan and Moody particularly against dirt and impurity. It is made from the best selected wheat. It is ground in one of the best and cleanest mills in the country.

Our Flour is Guarded

The flour is packed at the mill whence it comes direct to you. Order a sack today and get flour that is all flour and that of the very best.

BEREA ROLLER MILLS
Berea, Ky.
ANDREW ISAACS, Prop.

Made by...

...by...

...Ky.

...Ky.</p

The Citizen

A family newspaper for all that is right, true and interesting.

Published every Thursday at Berea, Ky.

BEREA PUBLISHING CO.

(Incorporated)

J. P. Faulkner, Editor and Manager.

Subscription Rates

PAYABLE IN ADVANCE

One Year $1.00
Six Months 60
Three Months 35

Send money by Post-office or Express Money Order, Draft, Registered Letter, or one and two cent stamp.

The date after your name or label shows to what date your subscription is paid. If it is not paid within three weeks after renewal notify us.

Mailing numbers will be gladly supplied if we are notified.

Fine premiums cheap with new subscriptions and prompt renewals. Send for Premium List. Liberal terms given to any who obtain new subscriptions for us. Any one sending us four nearly subscriptions can receive The Citizen free for himself for one year.

Advertising rates on application.

MEMBER OF KENTUCKY PRESS ASSOCIATION.

"Do not tell a boy how bad he is," says the superintendent of a boys' school. "No, he might get haughty over having achieved such distinction."

Kansans will continue to raise corn and put money in the bank without getting jealous or excited over diamond discoveries in the neighborhood.

Railroads are having trouble fixing transportation charges on women's hats. They are not heavy enough to go by weight. Why not charge by the acre?

Thanks to the California experimenters it is now possible to eat cacti and roses. It'll be long before this prickly fodder takes the place of meat and taters.

The scientists may prove or disprove the dangers in kissing, but it will take all the king's horses to stop it—and no one seems to be bounding up horses, either.

The Husbands' union should investigate the case of the man whose wife beat him with her fists, a stove poker, a hammer, and then had him arrested for assault and battery.

An engineer who ran his engine into a train ahead of him says that the Lord ordered him to do it, thus predinating another case of orders gone awry in transmission.

School children in various cities are voting against the firecracker and the insane type of Fourth of July. The children see the point when you present it to them in the right way.

Somebody has found out how to make coffee from dandelion roots, but there is no immediate danger that the dandelion crop will be a failure owing to the fact that a use has been found for it.

The Ornithologists' union of New York has undertaken to try to restore the wild pigeon. Perhaps members of the Ornithologists' union have nothing else that may be regarded as worth while to do.

It is an interesting and noteworthy fact that since the promulgation of the law of June, 1907, the effect of which is to simplify the formalities which are the necessary preliminaries to marriage, there have been more weddings in France than at any period since the beginning of the last century, with the exception of the year 1813 and 1872, in the former of which men contracted unions to escape being sent off to fight, while in the latter many wedded took place which had been delayed by the war with Germany.

That submarine vessels can make extended trips is shown by a recent experience with the Viper, owned by the United States, which, in command of a midshipman, ran 485 miles, from a point off the North Carolina coast to Annapolis. Hitherto no such attempt has been made. Of course, the voyage was made on the surface, as submarines dive only when such action is considered necessary. But that the Viper could go safely for such a distance, unaccompanied by any convoy, is taken to show that such craft are capable of more independent service than was supposed.

In Zurich, Switzerland, the people have a custom of burning an effigy of winter in the streets. If it would help to bring winter to an end the custom might well be adopted in other places.

China has taken another great step toward western civilization and the emancipation of its women. The daughters of the Chinese minister at Washington have learned to make fudge. When the American schoolgirl atmosphere gets into any home, however orientalized, things are bound to be changed.

A Chicago woman will be compelled to explain to the federal grand jury why she refused to talk to a census enumerator. What about the old theory that woman is never able to hold her tongue?

Chicago quotations show that while the prices of the two most expensive cuts of meat have dropped a little, the 13 cheaper cuts, in contrast, have increased in price. Let's see, didn't the government issue recently 1,000,000 copies of a cook book showing people how to use the cheaper cuts of meat?

CONFER IN PRIVATE

ROOSEVELT AND TAFT HAVE LONG TALK AT LATTER'S SUMMER HOME.

ARE SEPARATED 16 MONTHS

Meeting Between Present and Former Executives Characterized by Old-Time Cordiality—Subject of Their Discussion Remains a Secret.

Beverly, Mass.—A smile spread over the face of President Taft Thursday afternoon as he hurriedly left his work in the library of the Burgess Point cottage and rushed to the veranda when the Lodge limousine drove up, the "hunk honk" of which was announcing the arrival of former President Roosevelt.

They met just outside the door and simultaneously Taft clapped a hand on the Roosevelt shoulder as Roosevelt seized the president's hand in a strong grip.

"Mr. President," exclaimed the one; and "Theodore," cried the other.

"By George," continued Roosevelt, "this is fine. I am mighty glad to see you, Mr. President."

Thus, after a separation of sixteen months, Taft and Roosevelt met again, at the Tnf cottage here in Beverly, with only Senator Lodge and Secretary Norton present, all the rest of the world being barred out.

Those who witnessed the meeting say it was characterized by all the old-time cordiality of relations between the two—that there was the best of feeling displayed—and that the hearty bursts of laughter that proceeded first from the president and then from Roosevelt as they sat on the veranda and chatted for two hours and a half, was strongly reminiscent of the old White House days.

As to the talk between them—it covered a wide range of topics and there was a period when the president and Roosevelt drew aside from the rest of the party and conversed in low tones. What was said must remain a secret, however, between them, for Taft declined to make any statement after the colonel had departed and Roosevelt would say only that he had had a most delightful time.

CLEAN SWEEP FOR HARVARD

Crews Defeat Yale Boats in Three Shell Races on Thames River.

New London.—Harvard's day of victory on the Thames Thursday culminated with success in the varsity eight.

With her stroke oar all but collapsed, Yale crossed the line at the New London bridge four lengths behind the Cambridge crew.

For three and a half miles the shells drove down the river almost abreast, first one and then another forging slightly ahead. Harvard was nearly a length ahead at the two-mile point and her bow showed in front for the greater part of the way, but time and again a gallant spurt brought the New Haven shell on even terms. Not until the boats entered the final quarter mile stretch did the Crimson look like a winner.

Harvard's victories were the most decisive that ever marked the opening of her annual rowing regatta with Yale. The Crimson freshman eight-oared crew beat the youngsters from New Haven by three lengths, and the Harvard varsity four bettered this performance a little later by rowing away from Yale in the last eighth mile of a surprising race and finishing four lengths in the lead.

RAILROADS GAIN A VICTORY

Commerce Commission Grants Permission to Advance Grain Rates East of Buffalo.

Washington.—Announcement was made by the Interstate commerce commission Thursday that it will not append official classification 36, involving more than 6,000 items, which was filed to become effective July 1. This is regarded as a victory for the railroads.

Permission was granted by the commission to railroads operating out of Buffalo to advance rates on flour and other wheat products one cent a hundred pounds to eastern destinations.

For nearly a month the commission has been overwhelmed with protests against the proposed new classification, many shippers seemed to believe that the rearrangement of freight classification would result in largely increased rates. The subject was considered carefully by the commission, a thorough and comprehensive check being prepared on the entire classification. In the items and ratings involved there are only fifty-eight changes, of which twenty-eight are reductions and thirty advances, the latter including twelve increases in carload weights.

Named by Prohibitionists.

Meriden, Conn.—Emil L. Hohenthal of South Manchester, chairman of the state central committee, was Thursday unanimously nominated for governor at the session of the Prohibition state convention.

Two Schooners Burned.

Richmond, Me.—Two four-masted schooners, the Henry L. Peckham and Young Bros., and two ice houses owned by the American Ice company were destroyed by fire here Thursday. The loss is $150,000.

SISTER'S BASHFUL BEAU DOESN'T CALL AS OFTEN SINCE THE HAMMOCK SEASON OPENED

SENATOR J. W. DANIEL DEAD

OLDEST DEMOCRAT IN SENATE DIES AT LYNCHBURG.

Has Third Paralytic Stroke, but Cause of Death Was Cerebral Hemorrhage.

Lynchburg, Va.—John W. Daniel, senior senator from Virginia, died at the Lynchburg sanitarium Wednesday night, his death being due to a recurrence of paralysis. The immediate cause of his death was cerebral hemorrhage.

This was Senator Daniel's third paralytic stroke. He suffered the first last fall while in Philadelphia and the second in Daytona, Fla., during the winter, having gone to Florida to recuperate. He had not been in Washington for several months. Senator Daniel was sixty-seven years old.

With Senator Daniel were his wife and his son, Edward M. Daniel, and his daughter, Mrs. Fred Harper, whose husband, also here, is Senator Daniel's law partner.

The death of Senator John Warwick Daniel removes the oldest of the Democratic senators in point of service. Of the entire list he was the only one who could be said to belong to the old regime. And, as he was the oldest in service, he was one of the most conspicuous in popular favor.

New Orleans.—Samuel Douglas McEnery, United States senator from Louisiana, suddenly expired at his home here Tuesday from an attack of acute indigestion.

The senator arrived here Monday from Washington. He was seventy-three years old, and death was supervinced by old age.

The senator was survived by his wife, who was before marriage Miss Elizabeth Phillips of Monroe, Pa.; his daughter, Mrs. Warren B. Parker, and his two sons, Charles P. McEnery and Dr. Douglas W. McEnery of Washington.

In all probability Gov. Jared Y. Sanders will be chosen by the Louisiana legislature, now in session, as Senator McEnery's successor. It is thought that the leading figures in state politics have figured upon the aged senator's passing for some time, but it was not anticipated exactly at this juncture.

DEMANDS MILLION DAMAGES

Ida Von Claussen Files Suit Against Roosevelt and Others Charging Slander and Conspiracy.

New York.—Ida Von Claussen, once the wife of Dr. William Francis Honan, whose coming to America to see Theodore Roosevelt and other notables was announced from Paris a few weeks ago, appeared in the county house Tuesday with a complaint which she insisted on filing in the county clerk's office.

Her complaint charges Theodore Roosevelt, Robert Bacon, ambassador to France; Charles Graves, minister to Sweden, and Mrs. Alice Wright G. Graves, his wife, with slander and conspiracy. She declares that through the machinations of these distinguished persons she was deprived of a royal marriage with Prince Eugen of Sweden as the bridegroom.

Wherefore she demands $1,000,000 damages.

Loses Eye Making Fireworks.

Bloomfield, N. J.—Frank Christopher, 30 years old, tried to manufacture home-made fireworks in a shed in the rear of his home here. In an explosion which resulted, both his eyes were blown out and he was otherwise terribly burned. He will die.

Dixie Population Grows.

Washington.—That the census of 1910 will show the southern states, including Missouri and Oklahoma, to have made a gain in population of 21 per cent. since 1900, is the estimate given out by the Southern Commercial congress.

No Increase on Burlington.

Chicago.—A report that the Burlington road is contemplating an increase in the pay of its unorganized employees was emphatically denied by President Miller Thursday.

Chicago quotations show that while

LA FOLLETTE SEES ROOSEVELT

SENATOR LEAVES COLONEL IN JUBILANT MOOD.

Declares Former President is Greatest American Living and is in Fighting Trim.

Oyster Bay.—Robert M. La Follette, United States senator from Wisconsin, spent two hours talking politics with Theodore Roosevelt. He left Oyster Bay wearing a broad smile. Senator La Follette arrived with G. E. Roe, a New York lawyer, who was formerly his law partner. Colonel Roosevelt's chauffeur was waiting for them, and whisked them away to Sagamore Hill. The senator had pulled his hat down over his eyes and tried to escape unseen. But he was caught fairly at it by a group of newspaper men. They tackled him on suspicion, although nobody recognized him, for his hat hid his famous pompadour.

"Not a word," he said. "I'm going to Sagamore Hill, but I don't want a word said about it."

When he returned, just in time to catch a train for New York, he was smiling his most expansive, persuasive smile. "It's all right, boys, he cried jovially. "The colonel says I may talk with you."

"Did we talk politics?" he replied to the first question. "We did."

"We talked of the legislation of the present session of congress, from the attitude of those members of the Republican party whom the newspapers are pleased to call insurgents."

"Can you go into details?"

"No; I prefer that they come from Sagamore Hill. I am very much pleased with the result of my visit with Colonel Roosevelt, very much pleased, indeed."

The senator paused for a moment. Suddenly the smile left his face for the first time and he said impressively:

"I want to tell you that Colonel Roosevelt is the great living American, and," he added slowly and significantly, "he is in fighting trim."

MANY DIE IN CLOUDBURST

Three Kentucky Counties Are Swept by Storm and Flood—Deaths May Reach Forty.

Saylerville, Ky.—Fifteen people are known to be dead, fifteen additional are reported as having died and fully forty are missing as the result of a cloudburst in Magoffin, Floyd and Knott counties, Ky., late Tuesday.

Twelve bodies of the known dead have been secured by the workmen in Saylerville and the towns affected by the terrible cloudburst. When late reports came in from sections lying near Saylerville, it was estimated by the people here that fully forty have been killed in the floods and that forty are missing from their homes.

Saylerville is the county seat of Magoffin county which is in eastern Kentucky. There are no railroads running to the town and little else than farming is done in this vicinity. Floyd and Knott counties lie adjacent to this county and have several small towns lying directly on the Licking river and large creeks which were affected greatly by the downpour. It has been raining in this section for three days and the rivers and streams were all full of water when the downpour from the cloudburst broke over this section. Instantly many houses in this section were carried from their foundations and were swept into the streams.

Many of the people in these three counties are homeless. The property damage is estimated to be fully $100,000 and the losses in stocks and grain will go to even higher figures.

RAIL RATES ARE LOWERED

Interstate Commerce Commission Takes Action in Cases Affecting the Entire Country.

Washington.—Reductions in class and commodities on all shipments west from Chicago to the Pacific coast were ordered Wednesday by the Interstate Commerce Commission. The commission decided that the capital invested in railroad property and betterments did not justify the advance in rates to the point marked in the new schedules filed by the railroads.

The decisions are in what are known popularly as the Pacific coast cases. These cases were heard last autumn by the commission on its six weeks' trip to the Pacific coast and Intermountain territory and had been under consideration ever since then. In every instance reductions in the existing rates were made.

Diver Finds Man's Body.

La Crosse, Wis.—John Murray, a diver, located the body of the man supposed to be John McInnes of Waupun in the hull of the steamer "J. S." which burned to the water's edge Saturday night. The body was wedged tightly between one of the hulls and wreckage and cannot be extricated until another diver arrives. It is located close to where the ship's prison was situated.

Arizona Election September 12.

Phoenix, Ariz.—Governor Sloan issued a proclamation Wednesday fixing September 12 as the date for the election of delegates to the convention which will frame a constitution for the new state of Arizona.

Forest Fires Burn Station.

Calumet, Mich.—Forest fires Thursday destroyed the Copper Range railroad station at Elm River, Houghton county. Fires are raging all through the upper peninsula.

Rolls to Fly in America.

New York.—Charles S. Rolls, the English aviator, who flew twice across the channel a few weeks ago, has entered both the International balloon contest and the International aviation contest.

MUCH DRUNKENNESS HIDDEN

English Inspector, Under Inebriate Act, Shows How Little is Known of True Conditions.

Although there has been an acknowledged improvement in the general drinking habits of Great Britain, says the London Mail, it is by no means clear that any real advance has been made toward the suppression of habitual drunkenness—the form of drunkenness that gave rise to temperance work, the form that causes all the real misery and matters most.

This is the

KENTUCKY GLEANINGS

WHAT IS GOING ON IN DIFFERENT SECTIONS OF THE COMMONWEALTH

CHILD'S SMILES WON PASTOR.

Chapter in a Pretty Romance of Mission Work.

Louisville, Ky.—One more chapter in a pretty romance of a mission was added, when Dr. E. L. Powell, pastor of the First Christian church, filed a petition in court asking privilege to adopt his little stepdaughter, Doris Gordon, as his own and make her his legal heir. Little Miss Doris is a winsome maid and has completely won the pastor's heart.

Doris' mother, who is now Mrs. E. L. Powell, was formerly a missionary to India from the First Christian church. It was there that Doris was born. Following the death of the father a warm friendship sprung up between the pastor of the supporting church and the missionary in India, and upon Mrs. Gordon's return to this country she became Mrs. Powell. Then the child's smiles won the pastor and now she, too, will become tightly bound to the man who took her father's place in her mother's heart.

OFFICERS ELECTED.

Kentucky Press Association slate for the coming year.

The officers of the Kentucky Press Association for the coming year are: President, A. D. Miller; vice president, Col. W. H. Hilderman; secretary-treasurer, Shelton M. Saufley.

Twelve Kentucky newspapers were admitted as members of the association.

A business meeting of the members of the Eighth District League selected the following officers: President, J. P. Stearns, of Nicholasville; vice president, W. V. Richardson, of Danville; secretary and treasurer, H. H. Cozine, of Shelbyville. Twenty-one of the twenty-two members were present at the meeting. In the ad and newspaper composition competition, prizes were won by the Cadiz Record, the Versailles Sun, the Hopkinsville New Era, the Hopkinsville Kentuckian and the Richmond Clinian.

BUY THE WATERWORKS.

Recommendation of Committee of Frankfort Council.

Frankfort.—The water committee of the city council has completed a report recommending that the city exert all its option and purchase the water works from the water company.

The contract the city has had for 21 years with the water company expired July 1 and the city released from any obligation it made 25 years ago on $125,000 worth of bonds.

These bonds must be transferred to other parties and a new contract drawn up. If the city does not buy the bonds of the water company then a reduction will be asked in the water rates and a filter must be placed at the reservoir.

PREVIOUS RECORDS SMASHED.

Internal Revenue Office Showered With Coin.

Louisville.—All records of receipts for the Fifth Kentucky district, department of Internal revenue, were broken when the Louisville office took in a total sum of $166,124.11. This smashing of the record was due mainly to the new corporation tax.

On this levy $120,103.27 was received. The other items ran just about normal, being as follows: Beer, $690; whisky, $24,398.51; cigars, $198.30; tobacco, $7,901.70; special tax, $2,351, and hotel stamp, $480.

June was one of the heaviest in the history of the local office, and there is already an excess of $303,000 over the corresponding period of June, 1909.

ONYX MINES.

Eastern Syndicate To Develop Tract In Barren County.

Glasgow.—Thomas A. Cromwell, of Boston, Mass., together with others representing the Southern Onyx company, of Delaware, closed a deal here for a large tract of land near Glasgow Junction, known as the W. L. Poynter property, and will immediately begin operations on an extensive scale taking out onyx block in the rough state for shipment to New York.

Onyx in large deposits has been discovered on this property, which, it is claimed, is the only place in the United States where incomparable blocks of pure onyx can be obtained, all others being imported.

LIGHTNING KILLS LIVESTOCK.

Mt. Sterling, Ky.—During a heavy storm in this county lightning struck and killed five mules belonging to Thomas Grubbs and knocked down a cow which was being milked, but did not injure the negro man who was milking. The lightning also killed ten sheep belonging to Jesse Highlind, and tore down many trees and injured the telephone service. The rainfall was heavy in many sections and damaged crops considerably.

NEW SYSTEM.

Court of Appeals' Decisions Will Be Printed in September.

Frankfort, Ky.—With the September term of the court of appeals, under an act passed by the last general assembly, a new system of reporting the decisions of the court of appeals will be begun. On Thursday of each week the advance sheets of the Kentucky reports will be issued, containing the opinions delivered the preceding week; the volumes and pages corresponding with those of the regular edition to be issued in book form.

A copy of each issue will be sent free to each circuit judge, commonwealth attorney, county judge and county attorney. The subscription price will be $3 a year. All opinions delivered by the court will be published.

By an order of court the clerk will deliver to the reporter a copy of each opinion by noon of the day after it is delivered to him, and the reporter, within two days thereafter, must prepare the syllabi and deliver the copy to the printer.

The publication will differ from the Kentucky Law Reporter in that it will come out weekly; will correspond in volumes and pages with the official edition; will give the opinions to the bar the week after they are delivered, and will be an official publication, the syllabi being prepared by the official reporter of the court and the other editorial work being done by him. It is believed that the publication will be of great service to the bench and to the bar of the state. Similar publications in other states have been found of great value.

SAFE AND SANE FOURTH.

Firecrackers and Toy Pistols Were Eliminated.

Henderson.—A "safe and sane" Fourth of July was the order here under the auspices of the Woman's club when firecrackers, toy pistols and other explosives incident to the promotion of tetanus in children were eliminated.

The aid of all the Sunday school teachers and superintendents and public school teachers as well as the ministers of the gospel was invoked to give the children a pleasant day devoid of the usual Fourth of July excitement.

A program was arranged for the occasion and the children all met in Central park each equipped with a flag, where they sang patriotic songs. There were addresses by local orators and a big flag was raised while a band discoursed during the ceremonies appropriate music.

MYSTERY SURROUNDS SHOOTING.

Lexington, Ky.—Mrs. Rose Welch, a gypsy, wife of Joseph Welch and daughter of James Gorman, all of Cincinnati, is in a hospital here with a bullet wound in her shoulder.

The woman was shot while in camp with her husband, father and other gypsies, on the Richmond pike.

She claims that she was accidentally shot and has declined to say who had the gun. John White, an employee at the Lexington reservoir, near which the camp is located, says, however, that one of the men of the camp was shot through the head.

Persons living in that locality say that they heard several shots fired in the vicinity of the camp.

NONAGENARIAN DEAD.

Bowling Green.—W. P. Mansfield, aged 94 years, died at his home, near Oakdale. He had been in failing health for several years, but sustained a fall a few days since, which hastened his death. He was born in Virginia, but came with his parents to this state when he was 3 years of age, and had lived in this county since the Civil War.

STRUCK DEAD BY LIGHTNING.

Newport, Ky.—While the sun was beating down on the hamlet of Bravville, Campbell county, a bolt of lightning struck and instantly killed Willard Farno, aged 19 years, who was at work in a field nearby. There were absolutely no signs of a storm when the youth met his death.

Lexington, Ky.—The tobacco crop in Franklin county for 1909 has all either been sold or brought to the local warehouse and redried. The crop will amount to about 3,500,000 lbs.

Middleboro, Ky.—The Kentucky State Bar association will hold its ninth annual meeting here July 12, 13 and 14. Stephen B. Silliman, of New York, will make the annual address, his subject being "Our Outlying Possessions." Among the speakers will be S. D. Kouse and W. H. Mackay, of Covington.

Lexington, Ky.—The commission form of government campaign committee at a dinner given in the Phoenix hotel formulated definite plans for getting an expression of the voters of Lexington on the subject in advance of the November election, when it is expected that it will be determined whether or not this municipality shall be so governed.

Fulton, Ky.—Fulton and Fulton county are rejoicing over the good fortune of their little city in securing, through the efforts of Congressman Ollie M. James, a $55,000 custom house.

ROUND ABOUT THE STATE

MOST IMPORTANT NEWS GATHERED FROM ALL PARTS OF KENTUCKY

TEACHERS' INSTITUTES.

Names of Counties and Places for Meeting.

JUDGE BREATHITT'S OPINION.

Decides Act Increasing Salary of State Librarian Unconstitutional.

Frankfort, Ky.—Under an opinion from the attorney general, the increased salary provided for the state librarian and the assistant state mine inspectors will not be allowed by the auditor, and test suits, on agreed state of facts, will be filed to determine the constitutionality of the laws granting the increase.

Judge Breathitt holds, as he did in the case involving the right of the circuit judges to an increase, that the salary of an officer can not be changed during his term of office.

The opinion involves only Frank Kavensugh, state librarian, and the mine inspectors who were appointed prior to the new act becoming effective. The test case will reach the court of appeals at the September term.

NEW CROP WHISKY.

Millions of Gallons Produced in Frankfort District of Kentucky.

Frankfort.—The season for making whisky in this district closed with a total of 81,727 barrels, or 3,621,443 gallons being made by the 11 distilleries in and near Frankfort.

The new season will not open until October, and during the summer there will be many improvements made at all of the plants. A warehouse that will hold 30,000 barrels is being built at the old Taylor plant, and distilleries throughout the district will generally increase their capacity during the vacation.

TWO SOLDIERS DIE.

Owenton, Ky.—A. G. Gross and W. H. Wilholte, two Confederate soldiers and two of the most highly respected and oldest citizens of the county, have passed away.

Mr. Gross was 73 years of age, an earnest, laborious, Christian man, and served in the same company in the Civil War with Mr. Wilholte. He leaves one daughter, four brothers and four sisters.

Mr. Wilholte was 72 years of age and served the four years of the war. He was married in 1865 to Miss Elizabeth Williams, who survives him.

Lexington, Ky.—Circuit Judge Benton appointed Lee S. Baldwin as circuit clerk to fill the vacancy caused by the death of John Bush. Baldwin has served a term as county clerk, and for some years was chairman of the Democratic county committee.

Lexington.—The Central Kentucky Miller's association met here and elected D. T. Matlock, of Winchester, president; W. J. Kennedy, of Carlisle, vice president, and B. M. Rennick, of Paris, secretary treasurer. A movement for the holding of a wheat show here in September was launched.

Covington.—Mayor Craig appointed George Seller at the meeting of the board of aldermen to be city auditor of Covington to take the place of William S. Gould. The present auditor has held that position for the past six years. His successor was formerly assistant postmaster of Covington. The position pays $1,500 a year.

Louisville.—In a fit of jealous rage, James C. Bird, a building contractor, of this place, shot and almost instantly killed his wife, Mrs. James C. Bird. At an climax he inflicted a wound in his throat with a knife that resulted in his death about 30 minutes later.

The tragedy was enacted in the beautiful home of James C. Bird, Thirty-sixth street.

Frankfort, Ky.—Certain "soft" drinks will not be permitted to be sold in local option territory in Kentucky under the "soft" drink license. State Auditor Frank P. James sent out notices to all of his revenue agents to put a ban on such drinks in local option territory by collecting a liquor license from any person selling "soft" drinks containing alcohol.

Lexington, Ky.—An automobile was stolen in Louisville from the private garage of Adger Stewart turned up at the farm of T. J. Brown, four miles from Lexington.

Brown said that three boys, none of them over 26, came to his place in the machine. They said that they were out of funds and offered to sell him the automobile. He declined to buy it, and they asked permission to leave it at the farm.

Lexington.—News reached here of the arrest of a man giving the name of Thaddeus E. York for trying to defraud the State Bank of Chicago out of $5,000 by means of an alleged fraudulent certificate of deposit by the First National bank of this city.

The man used a $20,000 forged certificate in San Francisco to open an account and drew $5,325 against it.

Officials of the First National bank believe that York is the same man arrested at Klamath Falls, Ore., in April.

Nicholasville.—James B. Stears, editor of the Jessamine News, president of the Eighth District Publishers' League, has appointed as members of the executive committee P. H. Elicks, of the Richmond Register; J. H. Paxton, of the Lawrenceburg News, and J. O. Sowers, of the Valley View Argus.

Lexington, Ky.—The commission form of government campaign committee at a dinner given in the Phoenix hotel formulated definite plans for getting an expression of the voters of Lexington on the subject in advance of the November election, when it is expected that it will be determined whether or not this municipality shall be so governed.

Fulton, Ky.—Fulton and Fulton county are rejoicing over the good fortune of their little city in securing, through the efforts of Congressman Ollie M. James, a $55,000 custom house.

IN FULL SWING.

Proctor Knott Chautauqua Has Fine Opening at Lebanon.

Lebanon, Ky.—The Proctor Knott Chautauqua opened. The old governor gave this home to the association some time ago and it is the proudest time in the sunset of his life to feel that the Chautauqua is a success.

Fulton, Ky.—Fulton and Fulton county are rejoicing over the good fortune of their little city in securing, through the efforts of Congressman Ollie M. James, a $55,000 custom house.

LIKES HAWAIIAN PRINCESS

Washington Society Finds Delegate's Wife Rapidly Adapts Herself to Its Usages.

Frankfort, Ky.—Under an opinion from the attorney general, the increased salary provided for the state librarian and the assistant state mine inspectors will not be allowed by the auditor, and test suits, on agreed state of facts, will be filed to determine the constitutionality of the laws granting the increase.

Judge Breathitt holds, as he did in the case involving the right of the circuit judges to an increase, that the salary of an officer can not be changed during his term of office.

The opinion involves only Frank Kavensugh, state librarian, and the mine inspectors who were appointed prior to the new act becoming effective. The test case will reach the court of appeals at the September term.

GARFIELD DEFINES HIS ATTITUDE

Explains His Position on PROGRESSIVE REPUBLICANISM.

POLITICAL LIBERTY IS AT STAKE

Says Those Who Seek to Drive the Progressives Out of the Republican Party Are Blind to the Conditions and Needs of the People.

Cleveland.—In accepting an invitation to speak before the new Progressive Republican organization of Cleveland, on July 11, Ismaea R. Garfield, former secretary of the interior, and ward of Theodore Roosevelt, wrote to the organization defining his attitude on progressive Republicanism.

"It is most timely to consider what the progressive movement means, and what action it calls for," wrote Mr. Garfield. "Those who seek to drive the progressives out of the Republican party are blind to the conditions and needs of our people. Such persons would save the word but kill the spirit."

After describing the revolutionary leaders as progressives, Mr. Garfield continued: "To-day political liberty is threatened by great special interests who would control our political activities for their own benefit, regardless of the common good. There is no half way ground in the fight of to-day. The special interests must be driven out of politics and kept out."

ROOSEVELT IS DEFEATED.

Cobb Direct Nomination Bill Put to Death in New York Legislature.

Albany, N. Y.—Theodore Roosevelt is to be asked to get back in the harness again. His decisive defeat in both the senate and assembly by the Republican organization has created a situation which may force him to take an active part in the politics of both the state and the nation.

The Cobb direct nomination bill, known as the "Roosevelt bill," was put to death with 25 votes for it to 19 votes against, 26 votes being necessary for it to have passed.

Col. Roosevelt's defeat was in no sense a repudiation of his leadership or an indication that his power is on the wane, those who stood with him say.

WATTERSON'S SON INSANE

Waves Pistol Wildly and Mortally Wounds Hotel Proprietor at Saugerties, N. Y.

Saugerties, N. Y.—Ewing Watterson, eldest son of Henry Watterson, editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal, who has been suffering from an affection of the mind for several years, became violently insane and shot and mortally wounded Michael J. Martin, proprietor of the Market Street hotel. The shooting was done in the cafe of the hotel. Watterson ran up the street, waving his pistol wildly in the air and firing at every one who crossed his path.

He was pursued by friends of Martin, several of whom had guns, which they fired at Watterson, none of the shots taking effect. Watterson was finally overtaken and captured by a policeman.

THE MARKETS.

Louisville Tobacco.

Louisville.—The market was fairly good, and if anything a shade stronger. Rejections were light. Dark prices ranged from $5.50 to $11.75 and burley from $7

East Kentucky Correspondence News You Get Nowhere Else

No correspondence published unless signed in full by the writer. The name is not for publication, but as an evidence of good faith. Write plainly.

JACKSON COUNTY

GREENHALL

Greenhall, July 4.—Fannie Pierson of Beattyville is visiting relatives at Greenhall.—Miss Gertrude Flanery and Edith Agers of Beattyville are visiting their grandparents.—The weather continues fine with frequent showers of rain. Wheat is being cut and is extra good in Stony land. Oats are fine, the corn crop and truck are looking well.—Since the Hon. D. C. Edwards has been speaking in Owsley and Jackson Counties there seems to be quite a change in Power's favor. Many who have been silent heretofore are now publicly declaring themselves for Powers. The people seem to have no fault with Mr. Edwards and are well pleased with his record in Congress. He is just out at the wrong time and against a man he should be for. The people are going to stand by and elect Mr. Powers who was honestly elected to office and robbed of it, wrongfully accused one of the most vile crimes ever committed in the state of Kentucky, cast in jail for eight long years being tried several times. He spent all his money and estate trying to get a fair trial. The people of this good old state believe in seeing justice dealt to all.—Mrs. Gertrude Holcomb and children of Ohio are visiting relatives at Nathanton and Maulden.—Mrs. Cynthia Flanery will begin teaching school at Hickory Flit the third Monday in July. Patrons of the district should see that their children are properly supplied with books, tablets, pencils, etc., and that they enter at the beginning and attend the full term.—The Greenhill baseball team played the New Hope team Sunday on the Royal Oak diamond, at the 9th inning the New Hope team jumped the game, leaving the Greenhill team three tallies ahead and with one batter to play. Greenhill is far in the lead this season.—Mrs. Lucy J. Thomas and Bent Pierson and family were visiting J. D. Pierson Sunday.—Andy Pierson and family were visiting relatives at Maulden Saturday and Sunday.—W. N. Cook sold a small sow and five shoats for forty dollars.—Little Finley Pierson ate too much pie and was very sick Sunday evening.—Mrs. W. N. Clugher's sister Little is expected at Greenhall this week.

TYNER

Tyner, July 3.—The farmers are all up with their corn crops and are busy harvesting their wheat.—School will begin the 25th with W. M. Dunigan teacher.—Messrs. W. R. Reynolds, Jas. Ilsmilton, W. J. Jones and R. B. Reynolds have bought a new threshing machine to be delivered July 25.—A traveling one armed magician will perform and make violin and banjo music at G. W. Miller's Monday night.—Mr. Jim McDowell and Garnett Farris of East Bernstadt have been visiting in this vicinity the past week.—The ball game between Tyner and Terrill Creek teams was well attended. The score was 4 to 1 in favor of Tyner.

KERBY KNOB

Kerby Knob, July 4.—A series of night meetings will be held here this week conducted by the Rev. Lunsford of Dreyfus.—Bessie Powell of Kingston and Myrtle Click were guests of Miss Laura Click Saturday night.—Mr. Parley Click of Tenn., is making a short visit among relatives at this place.—Corn crops look more prosperous since the hot day began.—Oat crops are fine.—Elmer Click and Bee Williams of this place attended court at Riehmond Monday.

HURLEY

Hurley, July 3.—We are having a nice rain here today and corn crops are looking fine.—Several from this place attended church at Birch Lick Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. George McColm visited at Horse Lick Saturday night and Sunday.—Messrs. Ben Gabbard and Dannie Johnson went to Bethel Sunday.—Mr. Wiley Roberts started for Hamilton, O., Saturday.—Mr. John McCollum visited at South Fork Sunday night.—School will begin at this place July 11 with Mrs. Tillie York as teacher.—We are having a fine Sunday school at this place.—Mr. Ned Laken went to Riehmond Sunday.—Mr. and Mrs. W. M. Hurley, Jr., visited at Elley Amyx Saturday night.—Several of the boys around here are planning on going to Illinois in a few days.—Next Saturday and Sunday we are regular church days at Indian Creek.

MILDRED

Mildred, July 4.—Most every one is laying by corn in this community.—The Tyner Blues played Terrill Creek Browns Sunday evening. Score

4 to 1 in favor of Tyner.—The Hon. J. H. Edwards made a business trip to London last week.—Several from this place attended church at Blooming Grove Sunday.—Mrs. Jane Morris is visiting in Laurel County this week.—H. C. Nantz is offering $1.00 per day for corn hours and can't hardly get them at that price.—Crops are looking very well on an average since the warm weather.—E. N. Begley is all smiles over the arrival of a fine boy last Sunday night.—Moore Bros. are attaching a saw mill to their winter mill to edge plank with.—A. J. Shepherd was in town on legal business today.—Today is the Fourth of July but there seems to be nothing doing in this part to celebrate it. Every one ought to celebrate in a sober manner.

CLOVER BOTTOM

Clover Bottom, July 3.—Robert Hale, Grover Drew and Mrs. Beatrice Drew passed thru here today from visiting Mr. Drew's mother at Evergreen.—Mr. Jack Cruise who has been sick for some time is able to sit up again.—Hansford Purvis and Roy Dean while swinging a few days ago fell and dislocated Roy Dean's arm and hurt Mr. Purvis very badly but he has not been able to work since.—Oats are fine in this section and corn is looking well.—Uncle W. K. Hicknell failed to attend church today for the first time that your correspondent can remember.—Church at Cave Springs today with the Rev. Messrs. Jas. Lunsford, Stauffer and Hicknell in attendance.

HUGH

Hugh, July 4.—Crops are looking fine in this part.—G. M. Benge is done laying by corn.—Mr. Will Paris is some better at this writing.—Mr. R. L. Hale, Mr. and Mrs. Grover Drew of this place visited relatives at Horse Lick Saturday night.—Mr. Lewis Park and wife are visiting here.—Hardin Azbill says he lives in a little village of 500 inhabitants and every one is for Caleb Powers.—Mr. Geo. Benge and family were guests of Mrs. Benge's parents Sunday.—Old Aunt Mary Engle is visiting relatives at this place.—We are sorry that the grist mill at this place has quit grinding.

OWSLEY COUNTY

RICETOWN

Ricetown, July 2.—Had a good shower Saturday.—Judge Price was here Thursday.—Mr. and Mrs. Henry Some visited Mr. and Mrs. C. B. Gabbard last Saturday and Sunday.—James R. Gabbard spent last Saturday night with friends at Cow Creek.—Baldy Huff has returned home from Lewis County.—E. E. Gabbard who is staying at Buckhorn spent Tuesday night with home folks.—Floyd Laine of Buck Creek will teach at Esau.—Corn is very scarce in this section and selling at $1 a bushel.—Ino Reynolds and wife visited relatives at Cow Creek last Saturday and Sunday.—R. W. Minter sprained his ankle very badly.—The Rev. Messrs. Perry, Reynolds and Arnold Helton of Breathitt County preached at John Gabbard's of Cow Creek last Sunday.—It is said that Powers will get over 75 per cent of the voters of this section.

TRAVELLERS REST

Travellers Rest.—Crops are looking very promising in this section.—The Hon. D. C. Edwards delivered an interesting lecture at this place June 22nd in behalf of his candidacy for congressman.—Mr. E. C. White, who has been in Louisville for several months, is expected home on a visit next week.—The teachers of Owesley were contracted to their respective schools last Saturday and many of them will begin Monday July 11th.—Sunday school at this place every Sunday at 2 p. m.—The Wild Dog Boys will team line up with the New Hope boys Saturday afternoon. Score 24 to 1 in favor of New Hope.—Mr. Dudley Wilson will entertain Mr. E. C. White while visiting home toks next week.—Born to Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Wilson a fine baby boy June 23d.

CLAY COUNTY

I am in position to give you better prices and quality on general merchandise than you have been expecting. You are invited to come and see for yourself.

—J. Stewart, Spring Tree, Ky.
We have on hand some $10 sewing machines which can be bought for $25 instead of $30.

We also wish to entice your attention to our grocery line. We have meal for $1.25 per barrel. You will find our prices on all groceries lower than elsewhere. Call and see Slusher Bros. Store at mouth of Jacka Creek.

D. S. Slusher, Manager.

$100 Reward, $100.

The reader of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that can not be cured by any of the standard methods of medicine. That disease is called Catarrh. The only positive cure now known to the medical fraternity is Catarrh being a constitutional disease, requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood vessels and mucous membranes of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The patients have no more faith in their own powers than they do in the cure. One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure, send for list of testimonials.

Address F. J. CHENNY & CO., Toledo, O.

Sold by all Druggists & Dr. Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

SEXTON'S CREEK

Sexton's Creek, July 1.—Corn is selling at one dollar per bushel in this community and not much for that.—Corn crops are looking well.—J. A. Hunter will commence a ten days' singing school at the mouth of Anglin's Branch Saturday.—School will commence here the 18th inst with Steve Kleth as teacher.—The Rev. J. P. Metcalf will fill his regular appointment at Corinth on the second Saturday and Sunday in July.—Malon Smith cut about one hundred and forty dozen of wheat for J. A. Hunter in less than two days.—Oat crops are very good in this locality.—Sarah Taylor of Tn visited relatives here Tuesday and Wednesday.—Mary Sparks who has been sick for some time is not well yet but some better.—Mrs. Martha Briney has been visiting her sister Mary Sparks for the past few days.—Mrs. Bettie Jenkins is staying with her sister Mrs. Joe Todd this week.—Miss Mollie Spark is with friends at Kingston this week.—Mr. John Lunsford has just returned from a trip in Jackson.—Mr. Tom Holland is erecting a new dwelling house in our little town.—Mr. Ewell Bunker who has been sick for quite a while is improving.—Our Sunday school is still progressing nicely.—The Methodists will begin a tent meeting here the 8th of July. We hope to have large attendance and good order.—Mr. James Lunsford entertained a number of friends at his home Sunday.

Spencer of Indianapolis is in town for a few weeks.—Mr. William Lucas and brother of Lee County are visiting at Mr. James Puckett this week.—Mrs. F. M. Jones and Miss Minnie Baker are visiting relatives at Parkville.—Miss Pearl Young is visiting her sisters Mrs. R. L. Riddell and Mrs. George Reynolds in Hamilton, Ohio.—Mr. James Lunsford is in Jackson County this week on business.—Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baker took dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Owen Lake Sunday.—Miss Myrtle Winkler is staying with her sister Mrs. Joe Todd this week.—Miss Mollie Spark is with friends at Kingston this week.—Mr. John Lunsford has just returned from a trip in Jackson.—Mr. Tom Holland is erecting a new dwelling house in our little town.—Mr. Ewell Bunker who has been sick for quite a while is improving.—Our Sunday school is still progressing nicely.—The Methodists will begin a tent meeting here the 8th of July. We hope to have large attendance and good order.—Mr. James Lunsford entertained a number of friends at his home Sunday.

and we appreciate it very much.—For the last few days the political pot in Hyden has lost interest as between Edwards and Powers, and the Jeffries and Jack Johnson fight has been the order of the day.—The big celebration planned by the Hyden people for the 4th was called off on account of the small-pox.

CHAPPELL

Chappell, June 28.—Mr. M. H. Farley is at Chappell on business this week.—M. M. Witt is on the mend from a bad shot.—Corn is looking fine at this place.—Charly Jackson is doing well teaching school.—Dr. Collins and H. C. Valentine passed here on their way to Harlan.—Glen North mashed his toe seriously haying corn and has gone to Hot Springs to get well.—M. M. Chappell is in the bee business. He has 20 hives and looking for more.—Gilbert Estridge joined the church and was baptized.

HELTON

Helton, June 30.—Crops are doing very well in this locality.—Cattle are trading reasonably well.—Mr. John Estridge of Jackson County has been buying cattle in this vicinity.

He took off some 10 or 20 head of cattle.—The Hon. John L. Morgan school teacher of Leslie County was married to Miss Lizzie Shuster.

We wish them much happiness in life.

—Edwards and Powers both seem to have good chance to win in this vicinity at election.—There will be meeting at Bleach Fork school house Saturday and Sunday.—George

Luster was seriously kicked by a horse recently. There are hopes he will recover.—Mr. T. E. Rose and his wife moved from Helton to Whitley

County where they will make their

GARRARD COUNTY

PAINT LICK

Paint Lick, July 4.—Rainy weather still continues, farmers are badly binded with their work.—July 4th was G. H. Gabbard's 89th birthday. He had with him 18 guests for dinner.—The Rev. Bryant filled his regular appointment at Wallaston Baptist church last Sunday.—Miss Fannie Kidd went to Richmond last Monday and was operated on last Wednesday.—R. H. Soper and family were the guests of G. E. Brockman last Saturday night.—Uncle Tommy Ballard is very ill.—Mr. Blinn Davis and Miss Pearl Bowen surprised their many friends last Wednesday by eloping to Jellico and getting married. May joy and happiness ever be theirs.—Mrs. Ethel Brockman and two children were the guests of O. L. Gabbard and family last Monday night.—Miss Stella Baker is visiting friends and relatives in Illinois.—Jeff Davis' children have got the measles.

LESLIE COUNTY

HYDEN CITIZENS BANK

Hyden, Ky.

We do a general banking business and solicit accounts of firms and individuals throughout eastern Kentucky. We are seeking new business and we are prepared to take care of it.

A. B. Eversole, Pres. T. G. Lewis, Vice Pres., Thos L. Gabbard, Cashier.

HIVDEN

Hyden, July 2.—There are ten cases of small-pox on Muncy's Creek, about three miles from Hyden. The County Board of Health with the aid of the County officers has quarantined all the patients and those who have been exposed are making every effort to stop the spreading of the disease.—The County Teachers Institute will convene here July 24th with C. D. Lewis of Berea as Instructor and the program includes a merry good time and lots of good things for the teachers and all who attend.—H. C. Chappell, editor of Thousandists attended the Kentucky Press Association at Middlesboro and Pineville last week and is now back home settling up all of his business here and looking for new quarters. The Thousandists plant was burned here a few weeks back and Mr. Chappell has decided not to rebuild. The paper will be missed very much in this town and it is hoped that some one will start a paper here soon.—Taylor Muncy, the traveling representative of The Citizen was here Friday getting subscribers.—It is reported that the Freshmen will re-build their Academy here and will continue to teach in the interest of Leslie County people. They have done a great deal for the people of Hyden and Leslie County.

HARLAN COUNTY

IMLAY

Imlay, June 30.—People are generally well in this section. We are having fine summer weather here now at last and corn crops are looking well, but a little small for the time of the year. Potatoes and vegetables of all kinds are fine.—Prospects are fine for a good harvest.—Hogs are scarce.—Corn haying and bee hiving are all the go.—We have a Sunday school organized at this place and we hope it will have good attendance and good behavior.

WE BUY WOOL HIDES AND FURS
Being Dealers, we can do better for you than agents or commission merchants. Reference: any bank in Louisville. We furnish Wool Bags Free to our shippers. Write for price list. M. SABEL & SONS Established in 1864, Louisville, Ky.

SAVE YOUR FOWLS!

Bourbon Poultry Cure is recognized as the standard poultry remedy of the world. It is the one remedy that can be depended on with absolute certainty to cure and prevent

Gapes, Cholera, Roupe,

Limberneck, Diarrhoea and all existing forms of poultry disease. A few drops in the drinking water keeps fowls healthy and free from disease. A six bottle makes 12 gallons of medicine. For the treatment of Blackhead and other diseases in turkeys.

Mrs. W. W. Ratner, Hopkinsville, Ky., says: "I have been raising chickens for nearly five years and Bourbon Poultry Cure is the most satisfactory remedy I have ever used for Cholera and Gapes."

Manufactured only by Bourbon Remedy Co., Lexington, Ky., U. S. A.

At All Leading Druggists. 50c per Bottle.

50c per Bottle.